Title: Lovely New York City

Semester First/2019r:

Coding language/Brackets:

It is my first time making a website. It is cool for me. I love designing thing. I had 10% experience when I was in high school. In Morning 7 am to 9 am two people came to high school and thought about coding. At that time I'm not interested in coding because coding needs more English to built your website. Now I'm getting more interesting in making a website because how professor thought or showed me, it makes lots of easier. In my HTML I chose to create about something that I love; it is New York City. My website about Lovely New York City I choose because I live in NYC, it is my second home and I love to stay here. In the website, I talk about New York City and five boroughs and why each of boroughs famous for. I also type some of my own experience end of the text. I try my best to make a beautiful website. I did color which is light green and light read, which is easier to see and read the text. I use CSS to create beautiful design and color, background color and my font size. I love it, and I'm enjoying doing it.
